

Issue low-power FM radio broadcast licenses to small groups (I read the report; there is no significant interference with commercial broadcasters--not that interfering with Top 40 radio isn't a bad idea in and of itself). Political diversity of expression is eroded by the consolidation of commercial broadcasting in the hands of a few large corporations. FCC should look out for the public interest in this area above all else.